U. S. Bombers Blast Reds From Seoul's Airfield

Soviet Tanks Driven Back From Capital

Tokyo, June 29 (AP)—The Korean mission here said today South Korean forces are driving back North Korean tank forces from the western sector of Seoul.

The Korean announcement said the military situation showed improvement with the aid of full scale bombing by Americans. The U. S. hurled seven big B-29 bombers against the invading northerners and they were blasted out of Seoul's Kimpo airfield.

An American fighter drove off a North Korean plane that tried to attack the unarmed C-54 transport in which the commander of all U. S. forces in the Far East, MacArthur, flew to Korea and back 15 hours later.

Battle Is Stabilized
The main battle has stabilized along the Han river just south of the capital which fell to the Reds yesterday.

American bombing and supply operations have been stepped up. South Korean forces have lost some of their initial shock. They are regrouping hundreds of infantrymen who were cut up by the Red drive, spearheaded by Russian-built tanks, that rolled over Seoul yesterday.

The battle line stretches along the Han from its confluence with the Pukhon river westward to the sea at Inchon. South Korean forces have been told to hold it at all costs because it is vital to the American aerial beachhead at Suwon, 20 miles south of Seoul.

Big U.N. Fleet Building Up Around Korea

(By The Associated Press)
A powerful United Nations fleet is building up today in the West Pacific to aid Communist-invaded South Korea.

British Commonwealths have rallied behind Britain with offers of ships to help the U.S. fleet.

Australia announced her naval units in Japanese waters—a destroyer and a frigate—were available to support American forces.

New Zealand also voiced readiness to make her navy of one cruiser and six frigates available. They are now on maneuvers near Fiji and are understood to be in constant touch with their headquarters at Wellington.

Britain already had placed her Far Eastern naval forces at the disposal of the U.S. commanders. The British have 22 or 23 ships in Japanese waters, including an aircraft carrier with 40 fighter planes, and an unspecified number of land-based navy planes.

18 U.S. Warships
The United States now has 18 warships in the Far Pacific. Thirteen of these are in the Seventh Fleet, which President Truman directed to protect Formosa. They include an aircraft carrier and a heavy cruiser.

In Japanese waters are a light cruiser and four destroyers. The U.S. navy also was assembling a second large-size Pacific task force to closely support the Seventh Fleet. It is to include the 27,000-ton carrier Philippine Sea, two cruisers, a squadron of destroyers and a full seatrip of supply ships, permitting long-range missions if necessary.

In Canberra, the Australian capital, a high government source said it was "highly probable" the 3,000 Australian troops now in Japan would not be recalled home as previously announced.

FIRST AID SET UP FOR PARADE, OTHER EVENTS

The Adams county chapter of the Red Cross has set up special first aid facilities for the entire 87th anniversary celebration, opening Friday.

A special Red Cross committee headed by Dr. Clarence E. Bartholomew has arranged for a first aid tent at the Recreation field staffed by trained nurses and with Boy Scouts doing messenger service. Extra provisions for providing first aid on July 4, the day of the anniversary parade, have been set up along the entire parade route.

First aid service Friday will be under the direction of David Baker, a member of Dr. Bartholomew's committee. Other committee members have been assigned various days as follows: Saturday, Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner; Sunday, the Warner hospital ambulance will be on duty at the high school grounds and its staff of nurses will be in charge; Monday, Gene Eckert, and Tuesday, Doctor Bartholomew.

Get Special Equipment
Other members of the special committee are Jack Cesna and Miss Lois R. Benson, director of nursing at the Warner hospital. Miss Benson is in charge of nurses for the first aid station.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pennington, Red Cross executive secretary, and her assistant, Miss Reida Longanecker, will be on duty at the Red Cross office.

Telephone and electrical service have been provided at the first aid station at the Recreation field by the United Telephone company and Metropolitan Edison company, respectively. Col. Thomas E. Peddy and Capt. Richard Crone of Gettysburg college have arranged for special first aid equipment such as litters, cots and blankets from Olmsted Field at Middletown and an ambulance will be sent here from that field for the duration of the celebration.

On Tuesday an ambulance will be stationed at the formation area, Carlisle and Broadway, and at various points along the parade route. Boy Scouts will be on duty for first aid service. The Red Cross office will be open and the Warner hospital ambulance will be stationed across the street at the post office building, ready for emergency service.

The Red Cross first aid set up, arranged at the direction of the chapter chairman, Mrs. Albert Bachman, will function again in August at the Sesqui-Centennial celebration.

Boy Scouts Building Elaborate Entrances And Swap Souvenirs

Valley Forge, Pa., June 29 (AP)—The United Nations could learn a few tricks from the Boy Scouts.

Walk around the 625-acre site of the scouts' second National Jamboree and you'll see sights that make the trouble in Korea all the harder to understand.

A killed scout from Scotland solemnly explaining the ritual of cricket to an enthralled 12-year-old Negro from Mississippi. A grinning Filipino youth swapping his scout knife for the pocket camera of a lanky Eagle Scout from Maine.

A boy from Austria learning how to crack a bull whip, with an Oklahoma City scout as his patient teacher.

Act Like Brothers

They spoke different languages, they came from homes of every sort, but the 35,000-and-some scouts and scouters already encamped on George Washington's one-time winter headquarters were getting along like brothers today.

By tonight some 47,000 will be on hand, for the week-long jamboree opens officially tomorrow with President Truman scheduled to come from Washington—the Korean crisis permitting—to deliver the welcome address.

VETERANS WILL SALUTE CIVIL WAR COMRADES

The U. S. Veterans Signal Corps association, Spanish War division, will salute and say farewell to their signal corps comrades of the Civil War at a ceremony to be held at Little Round Top at 11 a.m. July 4.

Capt. Alberto Adatto, of the U. S. Signal Corps, Fort Monmouth, N. J., who visited here Wednesday afternoon to make arrangements for the program, said it will be similar to the program held in 1919 when the association held its last reunion at Gettysburg and at 11 o'clock on the morning of July 4 dedicated a bronze tablet on Little Round Top. At that ceremony the Civil War division turned over to the Spanish War division the duty of carrying on the traditions and memories of the signal corps.

Since no World War I division of the U. S. Veterans Signal Corps association was formed, the Spanish War vets plan to turn over to the Signal Corps generally the duty of keeping alive the traditions of the service. Captain Adatto said. Formation of a World War II division of the Signal Corps association is now in progress, he said, and if the organization is effected a similar ceremony will probably be held here, possibly next year, constituting the World War II division as successors to the Spanish War group.

Honors Signal Corps
The ceremony July 4 will be held at the site of the tablet placed in 1919 by the Civil War division near General Warren's statue on Little Round Top. The tablet honors the Signal Corps of the U. S. A. for its heroic service at Little Round Top on July 2 and 3, 1863, and for its service in other battles of the Civil War.

Captain Adatto said the U. S. Signal Corps was established in 1863 as a branch of the army and thus become the first signal corps in military history. The Civil War division of the U. S. Veterans Signal Corps association was founded in 1867.

The Signal Corps men of 1863 used flags and torches and the telegraph (Please Turn to Page 8)

The children's program will feature the opening night at the "rec" field. A concert by the Blue and Gray band is also scheduled. For the children, there will be a greased pig contest, a greased pole contest, a bag race and many other events. The work of setting up the tents and stands for the various attractions at the recreation field will continue tonight. All members of the fire company are asked to report at the engine house or the recreation field at 7 o'clock to complete setting up for the affair, which will be open Friday, Saturday and Monday nights and Tuesday afternoon and night.

Will Have Dancing

WILL PROCESS CHERRY CROP

The Orrtanna plant of the Knoke Foods cooperative will begin processing cherries as soon as the fruit is ready for harvest, the company announced today.

The announcement came as a result of conjecture contained in a news story Tuesday as to whether the plant would be in operation in the near future because of the renovation and improvement developments there.

John B. Peters said for the company the cherry production line at the plant is ready to operate immediately as soon as the cherries are ready to process, and could begin operations today if the cherries were ripe.

The company expects to begin its cherry canning probably next week or the first part of the following week, depending on when the cherries ripen.

JURY DIVIDES BLAME, FINDS BRAKES FAULTY

A coroner's jury Wednesday afternoon divided the blame for the accident in which Mrs. Alice Myers, New Oxford R. 1, was fatally injured in front of her home on the Cross Keys-Hanover highway last Friday afternoon.

The verdict, read at the conclusion of an inquest conducted at the court house by Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, held that Mrs. Myers did not exercise proper care in attempting to cross the highway in front of the car of Mrs. Mabel Kramer, New Oxford R. 1. Faulty brakes on the Kramer car also contributed to the tragedy, the jury held.

Mrs. Kramer, who was charged last week by Private James A. Treas of the Gettysburg substation of the state police with involuntary manslaughter, is under $5,000 bail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Gerald L. Orndorff, Oxford township, on July 6.

Mrs. Kramer appeared at the inquest but did not testify. She was represented by Attorney Edward B. Bullett. Witnesses were questioned by Dr. Crist, District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter and Mr. Bullett.

Woman's Neck Broken

The first witness was Dr. Samuel Kirkpatrick, New Oxford, who was called to the accident scene. He said Mrs. Myers probably was killed instantly and described her injuries, which included a broken neck and fractures of legs and arms with a probable skull fracture and internal injuries.

Lester J. Folden, Fayetteville R. 1, who was following the Kramer car, testified that Mrs. Kramer was driving between 35 and 40 miles an hour. He said Mrs. Kramer swerved left and then right in an effort to avoid the woman who had "hurried" out from back of the car from which she had alighted at the side of the highway. Folden said Mrs. Myers apparently became confused, stopped and then continued toward her home on the east side of the road. "It seemed like she was trying to beat the car across," he told the jurors.

Aware of Poor Brakes

Private Treas testified that Mrs. Kramer's car had "very poor" brakes and gave figures on a state police test of the brakes as compared with standard figures. He said the car had been inspected last on January 3. An examination of the brake bands showed they were satisfactory. Treas said, indicating that the brakes were in need of adjustment only.

The officer said Mrs. Kramer was (Please Turn to Page 7)

COUNTY SCOUTS TAKE HIKE AT VALLEY FORGE

Adams county Boy Scouts at the National Jamboree at Valley Forge took their first "hike" today. They joined with others in the "Red Tour," a walking trip to the historical points of that historical shrine where Washington's army wintered during the Revolution.

"All of the boys are well, doing fine and enjoying every minute of the Jamboree," said a message to The Gettysburg Times today from Merrill Yohe, Jr., Scout scribe. "Days have been warm but nights cool, and the boys have slept well in the tent city."

The county Scouts are still in pre-training for the big event, which opens at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Arch Is Erected

On Wednesday, they set up the big dining tent in their own section, and erected the arch at the entrance to their camping area which is a replica of the Peace Light, built for them by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce.

A replica of the old building in York in which the Continental Congress met for several weeks has been erected at the other end of the camping area.

Mrs. Saby expressed a hope that as many members as possible attend meetings of the state federation, the first of which will be a district session Thursday, September 21, at the Bedford Springs hotel, Bedford.

Art Fund Project

The county board, made up of officers who are members of the Gettysburg Woman's club and the Littlestown Community club, voted to work toward the honor of receiving the loan of one of a dozen pictures for display purposes under the Penny Art Fund project to which both clubs contribute. Since there are 67 counties in the state, the group felt that much extra work in the arts, such as music, art programs and plays will be needed in both clubs for credit to receive one of the pictures for a year. Mrs. Saby appointed Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, Gettysburg, as chairman of the project.

Mrs. Harry Spangler, Chambersburg, president of the Franklin County Federated Clubs, and Mrs. Pole, secretary, reported that Franklin county's organization sought to hold a joint dinner meeting with the Adams county group. Miss Mildred E. Eden, Orrtanna R. 1, a state nurse, suffered a broken back and paralysis of both legs in a fall Wednesday night at her home near Mt. Newman. Admitted to the Warner hospital, she is said by attending physicians to be in a serious condition.

The fall, down ten steps in her home, occurred about 11 o'clock Wednesday night. Unable to rise from the floor she dragged herself in the dark and telephoned for aid. After pulling herself into the kitchen and then to a room where the telephone was on a stand she finally succeeded in pulling the phone from the stand and contacted the Gettysburg telephone operator. The operator then contacted borough police who arranged for the ambulance to be sent for Miss Eden.

Crawl Through Window

Arthur E. Buehler, brother-in-law of Miss Eden, and Miss Elizabeth Eckert, a nurse at the hospital here, accompanied Bernard V. Miller, driver of the ambulance, to the Eden home.

No lights were on in the home and the doors were locked. Miss Eden was unable to reach the light switches or locks. They located a window in the rear of the home which was not locked and crawled through, using a chair to protect themselves from Miss Eden's watch dogs.

They found the nurse lying on the floor under the stand on which the telephone was kept. She was tangled in the telephone cord, and unable to move other than by pulling herself along by her arms.

WAR VETERANS DRAFT-EXEMPT UNDER NEW LAW

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 29 (AP)—This is an ABC on the new draft act—the Selective Service Act—which Congress passed today. President Truman will sign it into law.

It will remain law until July 9, 1951. It is the same draft law which has been in effect since 1948, except for a couple of changes, only one of which need be mentioned here. The new law means:

1. Every youth must register with his local draft board, or a place designated by it, within five days after reaching his 18th birthday. But he can't be drafted until he's 19.

2. Every youth between 19 and 26 and all between those ages must be registered—can be drafted into the armed forces for 21 months' service, unless deferred or exempted for one reason or another.

Actually, although this draft law has been on the books since 1948, no one has been drafted in the past 18 months. Why? Because enough youths have voluntarily enlisted to make drafting others unnecessary. Enlistments are running about 34,000 a month.

Some will be exempted from the draft because they are:

1. Ministers and students studying for the ministry.
2. Physically, mentally, and morally unfit.
3. Aliens who have not declared themselves interested in becoming citizens.
4. State governors or others elected by the people of an entire state; members of Congress and state legislatures; state and federal judges.
5. Sole surviving sons of families which lost one or more members due to service in the armed forces.
6. Conscientious objectors who say, because of their religious beliefs, they can't perform any kind of military service, combat or non-combat. They will have to prove this to the draft board's satisfaction.
7. Youths now in the armed forces. Since they're already in military service, they can't very well be drafted for military service.
8. War veterans who served in the armed forces at least 90 days between December 7, 1941 and September 12, 1945.
9. Service veterans who served 12 months between September 16, 1940 and June 24, 1948, when this draft law first went into effect.

In addition, anyone reaching 26 is exempt from the draft since only those under 26 can be drafted under the law.

May Call Out Guard

Deferments—

1. Conscientious objectors whose conscience won't let them fight although they'll willingly do non-combat duty in the armed forces.
2. Youths who are in important farm work or some occupation considered necessary to the national health, safety or interest and can't be replaced.
3. Youths living with a wife and child; or youths whose drafting would mean a real hardship for someone dependent upon them.
4. Members of a reserve outfit, like the National Guard or the officers' reserve. But—and this was the only important change made by the new law—the President can call them into active service anytime he thinks they're needed. Also, to get deferment because you're in the National Guard, you must have been in it since before June 24, 1948.
5. College students in advanced courses in the reserve officers training corps.

State Frowns On Labor Pirating

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania is cracking down on what it calls the pirating of manpower by out-of-state groups.

William H. Chesnut announced the tightening-up campaign yesterday declaring that Pennsylvania labor is being induced illegally to cross into New Jersey.

Notice has been issued, said Chesnut, to recruiters of labor that a permit issued by his department must be carried and produced on demand.

Each vehicle transporting such labor, Chesnut said, must obtain the necessary permit from any one of the four Labor and Industry Department offices in Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Scranton and Pittsburgh.

Chesnut said complaints have been made that contractors and farmers from New Jersey have been bypassing the state employment agencies and exploiting workers in the harvesting of fruit and vegetables in south Jersey.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

TRUMAN FACES BIG DECISIONS IN KOREAN WAR

Washington, June 29 (AP)—President Truman was apparently confronted today with a decision on whether to order American troops, as well as combat planes and warships, into the fight to save South Korea from Communist conquest.

A possible further commitment of American forces was indicated by a report from Tokyo saying some U. S. troop units in Japan had been alerted to be ready for action.

Highly-placed informants here said late last night that no decision to put them in action had yet been made. It was also said that when a decision was made either for or against using troops, it would be taken by the President himself.

Time Is Short

Speculation of some authorities that he might act today rested on the fact that Southern Korean forces, even with the help thus far given by the United States, have been unable to check the Communist advance.

Moreover the swift sweep of the tank-led Red columns indicated that the time for further American action, if it is taken, may be relatively short. A Tokyo dispatch said top authorities there believed American troop action could not be long delayed if South Korea was to be saved.

Whether General Douglas MacArthur's dramatic flying visit to the Korean front had any relation to his ideas on using American troops could only be guessed at here; but the very disclosure of an alert to some ground forces indicated he may favor stronger American action and has gone to the combat zone to see how it can be made effective.

Heavy Commitments

Officials here said there were arguments on both sides of the issue. Against the use of troops are (1) the fact that it would involve an additional commitment of armed strength by the United States, (2) it would mean an even deeper involvement in the Korean conflict and (3) it would raise difficult operational problems demanding careful consolidation, including landings, supply, communications and the like.

On the other side is the argument that the United States is already deeply involved in Korea, both as a policing agent for the United Nations and by its own direct acceptance of the challenges to halt Communist aggression in Asia. Authorities agreed the President would have to weigh seriously the results of a failure to save Korea due to only partial use of available forces.

In his declaration of policy Tuesday Mr. Truman made no reference to the use of troops, saying only that he had ordered air and sea forces to support the South Korean government.

STATE TO FIGHT "BABY RACKET"

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP)—Legislation aimed at what was described as the "Black Market Baby Racket" will be presented to the 1951 General Assembly.

Plans for the legislation were drawn up yesterday at a meeting of 30 representatives of child adoption groups, state Welfare department officials and a subcommittee of the legislature's Joint State Government commission.

"If the legislature follows through," said Ira J. Mills, director of the state Bureau of Community Work, "it will cut down—although not entirely eliminate—the black market baby racket."

Mills said the conferees decided against suggesting a stringent licensing law to the 1951 legislature since children's aid societies and public and private children's homes are not in a position to accept the responsibility of a tough licensing law at present.

He explained that a committee was named to prepare a list of standards to be used by the Welfare department to certify child agencies as competent to care for children and submit them to individuals for adoption.

Certification, Mills said, would permit a judge, in an adoption case, to deny adoptions of child care petitions by a home that does not meet state standards.

At present, the Welfare department does not make certifications and jurists have no basis for judging standards.

M'ARTHUR IS CHEERED AFTER VISIT TO KOREA

Tokyo, June 29 (AP)—General MacArthur and his key officers drove to the edge of Seoul today and saw stiffened South Korean resistance as a direct result of increasing American assistance.

MacArthur and his party returned here tonight after a swift one-day survey of the Korean war zone.

The main battle has somewhat stabilized on the important Han river immediately south of the fallen capital. North Korean troops have not advanced south of the river.

American forces have intensified their bombing and supply. The South Koreans have lost some of their initial shock from the surprise attack by the northerners and are regrouping hundreds of infantrymen once cut off by the enemies' fast advance.

Doug Is Heartened

MacArthur appeared heartened. His officers expressed the opinion the South Koreans could hold their present line where more than 25,000 troops on both sides are facing each other on a 75-mile front.

MacArthur's 15-hour trip to the battlefield has given him a moment of danger. Once a U. S. fighter drove off a North Korean plane attempting to attack the general's unarmed transport, Bataan.

Besides visiting the front, MacArthur and his top aides conferred with South Korean President Syngman Rhee and American field officers at his advanced headquarters in Suwon, 20 miles south of Seoul.

He was cheered by thousands of Korean troops and refugees lining the dusty roads over which his sedan passed.

To Give Full Aid

Major General E. M. Almond, MacArthur's chief of staff, said:

"We will give the South Koreans all the aid possible within our capabilities and the limits of directives."

These are the main elements in the situation which MacArthur, his party, including this correspondent, saw today.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAMS

WORK FUN

Don Herold is a New York City advertising man—and one of the very best. He has been my inspiring friend, as well, for many years. He was once my associate in business, and here is something else about him—he is one of America's top humorists, author of half a dozen books that leave you "in high," and running smoothly, after each reading.

It is this man's clean and sensible philosophy of life, however, that I wish to mention, for it has paid out big for him. He says that he never takes a vacation—"except everyday," and he says that he goes to "places where work is fun and fun is fun!" So he accomplishes a great deal of work that others only dream about.

You don't find Don Herold at his desk in the city every day, but he can always be located—working somewhere—at home, in Florida, during the winter, or in some quiet spot, where his thoughts move in rhythmic style, like the working of a perfect motor. He is a hard worker, but keeps making work—fun.

Getting fun out of your work will increase your efficiency, no matter what it is that your mind, hands, or feet engage in. Worries won't trouble you. Work fun won't let them enter or bother you. You are then too far up on solid ground. Did you ever hear of a man or woman, happy in his or her work, who wanted to change it?

People who wear out early do so because the machinery of their mind gets rusty. Judicious fun would have kept it clean in perfect running order. Mark Twain had troubles, during a good part of his life, that would have floored most men, but fun kept creeping into his mind and soul—and he shared that fun with millions. Fun was his job.

If you don't get fun out of what you do there is something wrong with the work you do, or with you. It doesn't matter much where we work so long as we are happy there, and get fun and inspiration out of what we do. Take my friend's suggestion. Go "where work is fun and fun is fun!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Reading."

BRITISH HELP IS WARNING TO RED AGGRESSION

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Britain's quick action in offering the United States powerful naval support in the Korean crisis vastly strengthens the hand of democracy in dealing with this fresh Communist aggression.

The whole House of Commons broke into cheers when Prime Minister Attlee announced that British naval forces in Japanese waters were being tendered to the U.S.A. for immediate use. And former Prime Minister Winston Churchill was immediately on his feet to pledge the Socialist premier the support of the Conservative party in this dramatic move.

Whether America actually needs this extra naval aid is of far less importance than the fact that we have here another striking exhibition of solidarity between these two great world powers. That's a potent warning against further Red aggression.

Not all the democracies have been so quick to stand up and be counted. Many have been proceeding more cautiously, with a weather eye on Moscow.

Stand at Armageddon
Self-preservation is a natural impulse, but this is a crisis in which outspoken unity among the democracies is badly needed. It's no time to hedge.

Either "we stand at Armageddon and we battle for the Lord" to take a line from the late Teddy Roosevelt, or we just "stand at Armageddon" period.

America has given a lead in her dramatic promulgation of an active policy for containment of Red aggression in the Far East. The U.N.

has legalized that policy by calling on all nations to use such measures as are necessary to halt the attack on Korea.

The Communist world, headed by Russia, is in process of assaying the position—of figuring out whether the Western nations mean business or are just blustering. Moscow's first reactions, as displayed in editorial comment, charged aggression but were comparatively mild. The Bolsheviks are feeling their way.

Meantime the Northern Korean armed forces continue their attack on the South Korean republic, and the defenders have lost their capital, Seoul, along with some other key points. American warplanes are in action against the aggressors and have delivered effective attacks, and more Yankee air power is on its way. A few U.S. airplanes are reported destroyed.

Bearing On Europe

President Truman has warned us that "we face a serious situation." However, he expressed the hope that his decision to use American force will bring peace to the world ultimately.

I believe that hope is well founded. We may have to fight another world war if things go badly—but it is not true that such a war is inevitable.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German government is said to intend asking the allies for security guarantees against the possibility of attack through Communist dominated Eastern Germany. The chancellor is meeting with the American, British and French high commissioners in Bonn today and is expected to raise this question.

Adenauer takes the position that what has happened in Korea could happen in Germany. And of course he is right—providing the Red aggression isn't dealt with firmly right now. The parallel between Korea and Germany is too glaring to be ignored. The security of Western Europe could hinge on this issue.

Allegheny Elects New GOP Chairman

Pittsburgh, June 29 (AP)—Attorney L. Pat McGrath is the New Republican chairman of Allegheny county.

McGrath was elected without opposition last night to succeed James F. Malone, long time GOP leader Governor James H. Duff fired as State Insurance commissioner several months ago.

Malone backed Jay Cooke, Philadelphia banker, for the party's gubernatorial nomination. Cooke lost to former Superior Court Judge John S. Fine, backed by Duff.

Malone opened the meeting to announce his retirement after six years as GOP leader.

He declared:

"I have no regrets for having done what I did. If I had the same thing to do tomorrow I'd do the same thing that I did last March."

Mrs. Nellie G. Dressler was re-elected vice chairman and Thomas Murray was chosen treasurer.

For a quick dessert topping, mash two ripe bananas and add a quarter cup of prepared marshmallow fluff and a tablespoon of lemon juice; beat until thoroughly blended. Use on sponge cake or pudding.

BROOKLYN BACK IN LEAD, PHILS BOW TO BRAVES

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Rabbit ball or no, the 20-win club for pitchers is headed for a big year.

Johnny Sain of the Boston Braves, Bob Lemon of Cleveland and Art Houtteman of Detroit hit the 10-mark yesterday. And the season won't be half over until July 9, the All-Star game break.

Eight more are one step back. Another dozen still have a chance to crash the exclusive lodge.

Now 10 wins in June are no guarantee of 20 come October. But it's a good bet. Even old customers like Bobby Feller (7-6), Hal Newhouser (6-4) and Howie Poller (7-5) still are in the running.

Only seven made it last year, five in the American and two in the National. Back in 1931 the National didn't have a single 20-game winner. You have to burrow back to 1928 to get into double figures—11 for both leagues. The high is 17, set in 1903 and matched in 1905 and 1920.

Sain, staging the "comeback of the year" for the Braves, made No. 10 a big one. He knocked the Philadelphia Phillies out of first place in the National league with his 3-1 decision, spacing eight hits.

Win On Two Hits

Brooklyn, a 3-3 afternoon winner over New York, slid back into the lead when the Phillies bowed at night. The Braves used two hits, two walks and an error to score all three runs off Russ Meyer in the third inning.

Preacher Roe, a 20-game candidate, copped his ninth for Brooklyn on Gene Hermansky's first homer of the season. Hermansky's clout with a man on in the seventh inning broke a 3-3 tie between Roe and Sheldon Jones.

Carl Furillo, hit on the head by a Jones pitch in the eighth inning, hammered a two-run homer and single in earlier appearances. Furillo had been hitting .500 since the Brooks returned home.

Chicago massacred the St. Louis Cardinals, 15-3, the Cubs' biggest total of the season. Despite the loss, the Cards are only a half game behind the Brooks and 2 percentage points back of the second-place Phils.

Stan Rojek's eighth-inning double enabled Pittsburgh to edge Cincinnati, 6-5, before a sparse—Pittsburgh—crowd of 12,040 fans. Murray Dickson, a non-winner since May 2, picked up his third victory in relief of Bill Werle.

Tigers Beat Chicago

Talented young Houtteman, Detroit's fine 22-year-old righthander, actually was the first major leaguer to win his tenth. He did it in the afternoon, whipping Chicago, 6-2. Both Sain and Lemon joined him at night.

Detroit needed the win, too, to protect a 4½-game edge over the New York Yankees. Hoot Evers' 420-foot inside-the-park homer with a man on broke a 1-1 tie between Houtteman and Ken Holcombe. Don Koloway added two more in the sixth with his third homer.

Everything happens to the St. Louis Browns. Now Cleveland has run up a whopping 18-2 score against them, scoring 11 runs in the seventh inning. That made it easy for Lemon to ride home for win No. 10.

The Boston Red Sox won their sixth straight under the direction of Manager Steve O'Neill, drubbing Philadelphia, 6-2. Ted Williams hit his 23rd homer, Vern Stephens his 17th and Dom DiMaggio his third in the attack on Lou Brissie. It was Brissie's 12th defeat, high in the big leagues. Ellis Kinder went all the way with an 11-hitter.

Allie Reynolds cut down Washington with three hits as the Yankees won a 5-1 game from rookie Al Sima, just up from Chattanooga. Sima, a 27-year-old southpaw, was in the thick of things until Jerry Coleman hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

For a delicious sandwich filling, blend cream cheese with deviled ham; serve between slices of trimmed whole-wheat bread with watercress.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 29 (AP)—Have you noticed how many kids have been signing "non-bonus" baseball contracts lately? . . . The announcements have been rather emphatic about it and we don't know whether the clubs or the athletes are getting smart. . . . For instance, Billy Hoelt, the Oshkosh, Wis., high school pitching whiz, took "just under $6,000" from the Tigers though he was reported to have offers above $30,000. . . . Bob Wilson of Wisconsin, most valuable Big Ten footballer last fall, got the same amount from the White Sox after by-passing a $12,000 football offer from the Cleveland Browns. . . . Recent issues of the Sporting News list 46 college players and 27 high schoolers as turning pro and while no figures are mentioned, it may be noteworthy that most signatures are going on contracts to the higher class farms and then the kids are being shipped to Class C or D teams for seasoning. . . .

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Ben Chapman, former Phillies manager, is doing a grand job as pilot of the Cardinals' Danville, Va., farm in the Carolina league. . . . Vern McGrew, NCAA high jump champ from Rice, plans to work a year in the Texas oil fields before going to Oklahoma U. for post-grad work in petroleum engineering. He wants to be in the right spot to train for the 1952 Olympic tryouts.

PASSING THE BUCK

(News Item: Ray Robinson to defend welter title for $1)

I never thought I'd see the day When welter champion Sugar Ray Would risk his title without pay. But still that one-buck cash could be The way to buck the I.B.C.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Ben Hogan is the "champion sportsman of the month" for June. General Manager Fido Murphy has put a $25,000 price tag on Virgil Fillett Power, 19-year-old Negro team who is leading the Provisional

Charles Town Meet Opens On Saturday

Charles Town, W. Va., June 29—The West Virginia Racing commission today ratified the list of officials selected by President Albert J. Boyle of the Charles Town Jockey club, thereby setting the stage for the opening of 13 days' sport at 2 p.m., Saturday.

Five major league clubs are interested. . . . Bobby Atella stole six bases in one game for the Batavia, N. Y. Clippers then drew six walks in a game for a second Pony league record. If that keeps on, they'll be calling him the Atella Peril.

The right front section of the Kramer machine was damaged in the accident, the witness stated.

PARATROOPERS JUMP SAFELY, CREWMEN DIE

Nashville, Tenn., June 29 (AP) — Four Air Force men directed 26 paratroopers to a safe jump last night, then died heroically in the crash of their plane.

Bradley Cisco, a nearby resident, helped pull one crewman, still alive, from the flaming wreckage. He died enroute to a hospital. The other three perished in the crash.

Their names were withheld until next of kin was told.

The plane was one of a flight of 32 huge C-119 troop-carrying packets which flew soldiers of the 11th Airborne Division for a night parachute jump at Fort Campbell, Ky.

One of its two engines conked out over Bowling Green, Ky. To the throb of the emergency bell, the paratroopers jumped with military precision in open country near Greenbrier, Tenn., 40 miles south.

The crew stayed with the troubled Packet, successor to the C-52 Flying Boxcar, trying to get it to home port at Sewart Air Base, Smyrna, Tenn.

Plane Explodes

It crashed across the Cumberland river from Old Hickory, Tenn., indicating the pilot had veered eastward to avoid the solid metropolitan area of Nashville and Old Hickory.

The plane exploded in three shattering roars.

Lt. Col. Duff W. Sudduth of San Antonio, Tex., led the paratroopers in the jump. He told of the tense moments preceding it:

"We circled over Bowling Green, a check point, and got our 20-minute warning signal before our scheduled jump over Fort Campbell.

"The left motor went out. The crew chief told us it was out and to hook up. We sat back down. The crew chief was standing by me when the bell went on.

"He said 'Go.' I was going anyway. He didn't have to tell me."

Shortens Name
To Conserve Time

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP) — An Air Force officer shortened his name today to save time between flights when signing air logs.

That was the reason given by Flight Officer Harry Penst—not Fenstermacher—under a Dauphin court order signed by Judge Robert E. Woodside.

The Barto, Berks county, native is stationed at Olmsted Air Force Base at Middletown.

There are about three medium-sized potatoes in a pound. A pound of carrots will make about four cups diced or shredded.

Naval And Marine Reserves Are Ready

Willow Grove, Pa., June 29 (AP) — Gov. James H. Duff viewed the annual inspection of members of the Naval and Marine Corps Air Reserve based at the U.S. Naval Air Station here.

More than 2,000 reserves working out of the base were pronounced "fit for any emergency" after inspection last night by ranking military personnel in the main hangar of the air station. More than 1,500 civilians watched the ceremony.

Duff said the reserve program is "ready to step in to fill the breach in the event it is needed."

Vice Admiral John D. Price, chief of naval air training, told the reservists, "These men won a war in the Pacific five years ago and they can do it again."

Brannan Speech In St. Paul Is Probed

Washington, June 29 (AP) — The House Lobby Investigating committee has been looking into activities of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Oscar Ewing, Federal Security administrator.

Chairman Buchanan (D-Pa.) of the committee said late yesterday that he has asked the government's general accounting office to check on "1) what he called 'a so-called bought audience' for Brannan in St. Paul in April and (2) a trip to Europe this year by Ewing."

Buchanan did not say, but the committee's interest in the St. Paul meeting presumably is whether it concerned regular departmental affairs or was to give Brannan a chance to plump for the farm plan bearing his name.

The interest in Ewing's trip to Europe this year by Ewing.

Suicide Simon At Willow Mill Park

Captain Suicide Simon will be featured at Willow Mill park, Mechanicsburg R. 1, beginning Saturday, July 1.

Simon's stunt consists of crawling into a box with three sticks of dynamite which he sets off, blowing himself up into the air and the box to pieces.

"I've been doing stunts like this all my life. I make a living doing things that other people can't be paid to do. I don't have to remind myself to be careful like I had to do in my divine act when I set myself on fire and dove into a tub of water."

Simon does not see anything particularly dangerous about his stunt and freely gives away it secret.

"My head," he says, "is only six inches away from the dynamite, that's why I am safe. I am in the center of a vacuum. If I were three feet away the blast would main me."

Annabelle Moritz was admitted as a new member at the meeting of the Barlow Kitcheneers Tuesday at Mt. Joy parish house. The making of chocolate cookies, a plain cake and peanut butter cookies was demonstrated to the 4-H club by Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative, assisted by club members.

Cut Ordered In Insurance Rates

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP) — The State Insurance department today ordered a 7.4 per cent cut in Workmen's Compensation Insurance rates, effective tomorrow.

Artemas C. Leslie, State Insurance commissioner, estimated the reduction would result in savings of approximately $2,500,000 to employers in Pennsylvania.

The new rates were proposed by the State Compensation Rating and Inspection bureau after a several year's study showed accidents had been considerably reduced in the affected industries. They apply to all Workmen's Compensation policies with the exception of coal mining.

The average reduction for classifications in the manufacturing and utilities will be 8.5 per cent; contracting and quarrying, 14.3 per cent; and remaining industries, 1.3 per cent.

Rates for 121 job classifications will be reduced, 35 will be increased and 29 remain the same.

Annabelle Moritz was admitted as a new member at the meeting of the Barlow Kitcheneers Tuesday at Mt. Joy parish house. The making of chocolate cookies, a plain cake and peanut butter cookies was demonstrated to the 4-H club by Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative, assisted by club members.

on a small scale.

Much of the equipment of the corps in the Civil war, as well as equipment used in various wars since will be on display at the National Park office in the post office here July 3 and 4, the officer added.

Founded By General

That display, known as the General Albert James Myer historical exhibit, will be brought here from Fort Monmouth. General Myer was the founder, organizer and first chief of the U.S. Army Signal Corps. A doctor with the army, he was chosen to head the Signal Corps at its establishment because he developed a system of signalling which was the first used by the army.

The Signal Corps, at the start of the Spanish war, included only eight officers and 50 enlisted men. By the end of the war period it had 1,400 officers and men. The corps reconstructed the Cuban telegraph system, established the communications system in the Philippines, laying 5,500 miles of telegraph line and 1,300 miles of cable, and set up the arctic system in Alaska which is still a responsibility of the Signal Corps. General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines said during the Spanish war that he would have needed 150,000 men instead of 50,000 if it had not been for the work of the Signal Corps.

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the local national park, will represent the park service at the ceremony and Burgess William G. Weaver will represent the town. The public is invited.

No Freeze Orders
On War Materials

Washington, June 29 (AP) — The government has no power to seize, freeze or ration any commodities, and has not even discussed the possibility of asking voluntary curbs, a top official said today.

H. B. McCoy, chief of the Office of Industry and Commerce, in the Commerce Department, made the statement when questioned about scattered rumors of impending "freeze" orders on rubber, zinc and other materials.

"There is no indication of such action," McCoy told a reporter. "The government's needs are being supplied. I see no need for controls."

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 8

I turned to discover Lewis Hays just entering from the gallery.

"I was about to offer my services," he said, advancing into the hall, "but I see it wasn't necessary. In a way, I'm almost sorry; for it would have been a genuine pleasure to take a swing at that overstuffed animal. But if I'm not being too curious, Miss Piper, he asked after a fraction of a second's hesitation, "would you mind telling me exactly what did happen?"

"Claude attempted to get playful," I began, his pipe tobacco into his mouth. "I answered lightly. Then I had a sudden impulse. 'Mr. Hays, does red ribbon have any peculiar significance around here?'"

"He looked surprised at the question."

"Red ribbon?" he repeated. "None that I know of."

"Then I must have been wrong about Claude after all," I murmured absently, and didn't realize that I had spoken aloud until I noticed his look of puzzled curiosity. "He was trying to take these pieces away from me just now. I offered by way of explanation, and held them out for his inspection."

"Lewis Hays took the scraps from me, and examined them."

"Where did you get these, Miss Piper?" he inquired.

"Aunt Delphine gave them to me a few minutes ago," I replied. "And she acted rather mysteriously about them, too. Do you know what they are?"

"He shook his head."

"So far as I can tell, they're merely three strips of red cloth," he answered with a smile, and handed them back to me. "And incidentally, Miss Piper, if you won't think I'm impertinent, I'd suggest that you didn't mention this incident to Dede. I imagine you can understand why."

"I did understand — perfectly. If Amedee ever found out about the wrist-twisting episode, he'd separate Claude from some of his arms and legs."

Colonel Dumont's final dinner party, at which his will was to be read, was held at eight o'clock that evening in the big, candle-lighted dining room, Bobby and Pick and I — and even Aunt Delphine — all wore white, and dutifully fastened to our shoulders the somewhat stiff corsage of clematis in accordance with the old gentleman's wishes.

This time, Claude did not preside at the head of the table. Instead, the master's chair was left vacant — a stipulation, I learned later, which had been made by the old man who had occupied it for so many years.

In spite of the Colonel's request, the dinner party was hardly what could be called a gay affair.

At the close of the dinner, the twenty-year-old champagne was opened, and we all solemnly drank a toast to Colonel Dumont's memory. Then Mr. Simeon Duval rose to read the will.

First, there were bequests of personal possessions to Pick, Aunt Delphine, Cousin Jeff and Lewis Hays, after which followed a long list of minor remembrances for the colored servants. Then came the disposal of the bulk of the estate.

The land had been divided into three equal parts. The first of these, which included Oleander Plantation, went to Claude as eldest in direct line of descent. The second went to Uncle Raoul, and the third was divided between Amedee and Henri. That part sounds simple enough,

I know. But now comes the complication. Although the land had been left outright to his sons and grandsons, Colonel Dumont had added the stipulation that they might not dispose of any or all of it except to one another; while upon their deaths, it was to pass to their male descendants or nearest male relative bearing the name of Dumont.

That means," Mr. Duval explained carefully, "that if Mr. Raoul Dumont, for example, should wish to dispose of his share of the land, he might do so either to one of his sons or to one of his nephews, but not to an outsider; while should he retain possession of it, it will pass on his death to his sons. Do I make myself clear?"

"Perfectly," Uncle Raoul said solemnly. He spoke without raising his eyes from the table in front of him. It was evident that up until the very last minute, he had been clinging to the forlorn hope that Oleander might not go to Claude after all. Claude sensed this, and grinned, complacently at the rest of us.

Then Mr. Duval went on to explain that Colonel Dumont had been what is known in the South as "land poor." That is, while he had managed to hold onto his land he had done it at the sacrifice of practically everything else he had possessed. The result was, the lawyer asserted almost apologetically, that while the heirs would receive the property title clear, they would be obliged to pay the inheritance taxes and other matters connected with the settling of the estate out of their own pockets, or else mortgage the land itself for the purpose. Finally with a dry, "I think that is all," he folded the will, and returned it to the envelope from which he had taken it.

For a minute there was an awkward pause, such as I imagine must follow the reading of every will. Only Claude was smiling. Most of the others looked as though their newly acquired inheritances had come as less of an asset than a liability.

Then suddenly Beau was upon his feet. On his dark handsome face was what I believe the Victorian novelists would have described as a painted grin.

"A toast!" he cried, raising his champagne glass with an extravagant gesture. "To our new inheritance! More land, more taxes, and once there's no money to pay them with — more debts! And since Grandpere's been thoughtful enough to tie everything up so that we can't sell it, he's left every blessed one of us with an Old Man of the Sea on our shoulders for as long as we live — an Old Man made of good Mississippi mud!"

Chapter 9

We had all been so intent upon watching Beau, that none of us had noticed Uncle Raoul when he rose. The first we knew that he had left his chair was when we heard the sharp slap of his open palm across his younger son's face.

"That's enough out of you; you're drunk," he said. Then he returned to his place as though nothing had happened.

For the second time within less than five minutes, there was an awkward pause; but in comparison with this one, the first had been the soul of grace. Finally, Claude broke it with one of his fat chuckles. "Well, I've got a few thousand dollars I can afford to throw away," he announced with condescending magnanimity. "I'll buy out anybody who wants to sell. I can do that, being a Dumont. How about it, Uncle Raoul?"

"No, thank you," Uncle Raoul answered evenly, but his cheeks had flushed even darker than Lee's had done a moment before.

"What about you, Dede?"

"No," Amedee snapped. At this point Cousin Jeff, who had hitherto remained silent, interposed with a change of subject.

The remainder of the evening wasn't exactly what might be called a social success. The scene at the dinner table had put everybody's mental teeth on edge, with the result that little things began to grate on raw nerves out of all proportion to their actual importance.

Claude, who, like Beau, had drunk more than was good for him, noticed this and seemed to take delight in aggravating the situation. He insisted upon smoking his huge, foul-smelling pipe in the drawing room; and when he discovered that it annoyed some of the others, he smoked all the harder. He tormented Lee, who, he had discovered, was the most vulnerable to his thrusts. He persisted in treating Lewis Hays like a menial for the sole purpose of annoying Pick, as was evidenced by his covert glances in her direction.

Although doors and windows alike were open, the atmosphere of the room was stuffy and heavy. I attributed this to the fumes of Claude's foul-smelling pipe, which he had continued to smoke so furiously that there was actually a bluish haze in the air. Aunt Minerva, however, put it down to the odor of the oleanders, which she insisted gave her a headache; and finally she broke up the party by announcing her intention of going to bed, and advising Pick and Bobby and me to do likewise. It was the one action of hers since we had known her for which we were truly grateful.

We left the men still in the drawing room, and went upstairs to our rooms. However, unlike the night before, I was unable to get to sleep. I felt nervous and restless; and like Aunt Minerva, I was developing a headache.

After a while I heard the opening and closing of the front door, marking the departure of those of the men who slept in the garconniere. Then came the sound of the rest of them ascending the stairs, the muffled closing of doors in more distant parts of the house, and finally silence.

It was shortly after this that my throat began to feel dry. I reached for the water carafe that stood on the bedside table, only to discover that it was empty. Marionette, the younger colored girl whose duty it was to look after the bedrooms, had evidently in the excitement of the day, forgotten to fill it.

I rose quietly so as not to disturb Bobby, who had fallen asleep long ago, and got into robe and slippers. Then I set out to fill the carafe at one of the bathroom faucets.

As I was passing the head of the stairs, I glanced down involuntarily, thinking of the night before when Bobby and I had sneaked in after our stolen evening in New Orleans, and had so nearly been discovered by that suddenly opening door. And at that very moment, as though his theory were repeating itself, the utter blackness of the lower hall was again pierced by a shaft of light identical in size and position with that other.

I stopped where I was, with the queer feeling that time had been turned back without taking me with it; for now I was standing in the upper hall instead of the lower. However, the impression lasted only a minute; for what happened next was different from what had happened the night before.

The swath of brightness widened, then was partially obliterated three times as three men passed through the open door to the hall beyond. From where I was standing I could see only their shadows cast upon the floor and part way up the opposite wall; although from these I was able to form a pretty good idea of who they were.

The tallest was, of course, Beau. The second, with the suggestion of a droop to its somewhat narrow shoulders, was Lee. The third might have been any of the other men except Claude or Henri, one of whom was too large and the other too small to fit it.

For the fraction of a second, the three stood there together. Then Beau started down the hall toward the front door, while the other two turned toward the front of the stairs. I decided that it was time for me to move on.

But just as I took a step forward, I sensed the faint odor of oleanders through the darkness; while a figure all in white disengaged itself from among the shadows, at the head of the stairs, and floated toward me!

I was so startled that I nearly dropped the water carafe. The figure in white appeared to be equally startled, for it drew back with a little sound like the quick intaking of breath. Then our eyes met; and with an exchange of mute, self-conscious nods, we hurried upon our separate ways.

STRIKERS BUST DAIRY WINDOWS

Pittsburgh, June 29 (AP) — More plate glass windows were broken Tuesday in the milk strike as striking dairy workers received the pledged support of the AFL Joint Teamsters Council No. 40.

Pickets hurled bricks through the windows of Ann's Dairy store at Penn and Millvale avenues in Pittsburgh and the Dave Scharf super market at 4901 Broad street, Pittsburgh. The stores have been selling milk.

The five state organization of teamsters voted to support the AFL Dairy Workers union at a mass meeting in Erie. The council adopted a resolution condemning "the arbitrary attitude" of the greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers association. The resolution also called the Dairy Union's demands "fully justified."

The walkout of 3,250 dairy workers entered its 19th day with each side waiting for the other to resume peace negotiations.

stowing on their new-found friends what they consider the highest honors—"passports" to the Lone Star state.

The "passports" are issued to other Scouts with fitting ceremony. The recipients must vow they are not natives of Texas but that they fully intended to be born there.

WILHELM SAYS TURNPIKE SPEED LIMIT NOT SAFE

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP) — The State Police and the Pennsylvania Turnpike commission differed sharply today over the question of whether the present 70-mile an hour speed limit on the super highway is too fast for safety.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, in a speech here last night, declared that the 70-mile speed limit is "much too fast for safety."

"Human beings are just not equipped to drive automobiles at 70 miles an hour for such great distances as 160 miles (present turnpike length)," Wilhelm declared. He added:

"Drivers are bound to get tired and weary, and then accidents happen. There were 39 fatalities in accidents on the turnpike last year; far, far too many."

Evans Takes Issue
However, Thomas J. Evans, turnpike commissioner, took sharp issue with Wilhelm's contention.

"We feel," he asserted, "that the 70-mile an hour speed limit is O. K. Otherwise, we certainly wouldn't permit it. We are as much interested in safety as anyone."

Evans pointed out that the motor code permits a speed limit up to 70 miles on the toll road, but said this may be reduced at the discretion of the Turnpike commission.

"As far as traffic fatalities are concerned," Evans commented, "The same thing is happening on other state roads as on the turnpike. What is the answer to that?"

He said the speed limit on the turnpike was reduced to 50 miles an hour during the war years to conserve gasoline and other critical items. This ban, however, was lifted after the war.

Evans at the same time pointed out that although there were 39 fatalities on the turnpike last year compared with 25 in 1948, there were many more cars using the road in 1949.

The United States uses about 14 pounds of manganese for every ton of steel produced.

New Oxford

Hartnett, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church, who is making a pilgrimage to Rome in connection with the 1950 Holy Year, expects also to visit the shrines of Lourdes in France and Fatima in Portugal, and from each of these sacred places Father Hartnett will bring home a stone to be used in the grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes which the local parish is erecting in the Catholic cemetery here. These special stones will each be marked with a plate designating their origin.

Harrisburg Shows Population Gain

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP) — Harrisburg is now the commonwealth's seventh largest city, according to preliminary census figures.

Albert E. Gastrock, district census supervisor, today listed the population of Pennsylvania's capital city as 89,091 compared to 83,893 in 1940. It was 177,410 in 1940.

At the same time, Gastrock set Harrisburg's gain pushes it ahead of Wilkes-Barre, which had been in seventh place after the 1940 census. Wilkes-Barre population was reported at 76,022, placing it in ninth place behind Harrisburg and Altoona which reported 76,884 for eighth place.

AMA TO SPEND THREE MILLION

San Francisco, June 29 (AP)—The American Medical Association stood ready to spend $3,000,000 and abandon its traditional code against advertising in its fight against socialized medicine.

The association, opening its 99th annual convention here Monday, said it has established a $1,000,000 fund for newspaper and radio advertising to combat socialized medicine and boost voluntary health insurance.

The balance of the $3,000,000 will be spent on educational and publicity activities in non-advertising fields.

Each member doctor of the AMA will be assessed $25 for the publicity fund. Previously, the doctors' code of ethics prohibited their advertising for practice and also use of their names in newspapers except under certain conditions.

Dr. Ernest L. Irons, retiring president of the AMA's house of delegates, said the board of trustees considered the publicity fund a long time before voting unanimously in favor of it.

He declared the American people do not want socialized medicine and said his profession was anxious to see a vote in Congress on the issue. President Truman presently has a bill pending for government-paid health insurance.

Dr. Irons said advertisements against socialized medicine will be run during one week in October in 11,000 daily and weekly newspapers, and radio announcements will be broadcast throughout the entire month.

There are 10,000 doctors attending the five day meeting.

Poultry Pointers

Parasites: Before housing your pullets it is necessary to check them for external and internal parasites. The most common parasites that attack chickens and turkeys are intestinal worms, chicken lice, chicken mites and scaly leg mites. They are comparatively easy to control, thanks to chemicals. However, it is not only valuable to know which medicine destroys a certain parasite, but it is necessary to know that improper medication does not have any effect. Moreover, it may be harmful to the birds. Therefore one should be sceptical about chemicals offered without a chemical analysis.

Many poultry producers like to deworm their pullets before housing, even when they can not see any signs of worms. It is a safe way to protect one's interest. The most effective medication against common intestinal worms is Phenothiazine.

ing under the direction of the Sisters of Mercy, Gettysburg. It will continue for four weeks.

which in powder form mixed at the rate of one percent of the total feed should be fed for one day, making sure that the birds have clean, fresh water all the time. Twenty-five pounds of feed ought to be sufficient for each 100 birds. It is best to remove regular feed from hoppers in the evening, and then give treated mash the next morning. Spread the medicated mash in feeders to enable all birds to eat at the same time. Do not worry after feeding of the medicated mash when you see pinkish looking droppings, because they will be caused by the chemical change of Phenothiazine, and not blood. No flushing after feeding of the medicated mash is necessary.

The chicken lice which live on the birds and feed on feathers, but not blood, have been controlled satisfactorily by sodium fluoride which is commercially available in white powder form 90-93 percent strong. It can be mixed at the rate of 1 part to 2 parts of fine material as flour. Two people are needed for the application, for one person has to hold the bird, and the other one pinches the powder under the wings, along the back, under the vent, on the neck, the head, breast, each thigh, and tail. Sodium fluoride internally taken is poisonous for human beings and animals, and also irritates the eyes of the operator and the bird. Therefore birds should be released into fresh air immediately after application, and the operator should wear a piece of wet cloth over his mouth and nose while treating the birds.

Dips, which are quicker than the powder method can only be done in warm dry weather so that you are sure to get your birds dry in a short time. It also has to be repeated 10 days later, because dips do not kill lice eggs, laid on the birds feathers. Each gallon of luke warm water needs one ounce of sodium fluoride. If you use this method hold the

PENNSYLVANIA JOBLESS TAXES TO BE TRIPLED

Harrisburg, June 29 (AP)—Jobless benefit taxes probably will be tripled next year for more than 66,000 employers in Pennsylvania.

A. J. Caruso, executive director of the State Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation, said today the increase will occur through a new method of computing compensation fund payments.

The new computing method was instituted by the 1949 General Assembly.

Caruso said that indications now show that more than one-third of the state's some 180,000 employers face a jump from 5 per cent to 16 per cent in minimum payroll taxes through the change-over.

Unemployment compensation taxes paid by employers now are gauged on a three-year experience of manpower turnover. The 1951 taxes will be based on the three years ending June 30. Employers laying off few or no workers pay a tax of 5 per cent of their payroll. The rate runs up to 27 per cent as layoffs increase. Previously payroll tax payments were based on a year-to-year experience basis.

Expect Big Boost

Caruso explained that the three-year calculation period for determining the tax together with a rapidly dwindling compensation fund will combine to boost the tax rates of thousands of employers.

"Last year," Caruso said, "we took in only $65,000,000 in taxes from employers while paying out $140,000,000 in benefits to workers."

As a result, he added, the compensation reserve fund has dropped from $614,000,000 to $529,516,907.

The fluctuating "safety" point to meet any sudden deluge of unemployment is fixed at about $400,000,000. For this reason, Caruso said the fund is still regarded in a fairly healthy condition.

An increase last year for the first time from $20 to $25 in maximum jobless benefits was pointed out as one of the factors which helped cut down the reserve fund in the past several months.

Mrs. A. E. Meisenheimer, Manhattan Kan., who spent several weeks here due to the illness and death of her father, Jacob D. Sower, has returned to her home but expects to return to this district in late summer to attend to a public sale of her father's effects. Mrs. Laura E. Rodkey, who has been residing here for some time as housekeeper for Mr. Sower, left last week to spend an indefinite time at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Rahn, near Spring Grove.

An extension is being built at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Eshleman, Dr. Eshleman, local physician, and his family, moved here in April from Kennebeck, Me., having purchased the property of Hayes L. Anthony, who moved to Hanover R. 3.

The youth group of Zwingle Reformed church is preparing to conduct a food sale this week to purchase recreational equipment.

When Mrs. Curtis W. Deatrick and daughter, Miss Ruth A. Deatrick, returned to their R. 2 home one day last week after attending the funeral of a relative, they discovered that a large portion of the ceiling of an upstairs room at their home had fallen. No serious damage resulted and plasterers have been engaged to make repairs. It is believed that the accident was caused by the vastly increased vibration of truck traffic on the road which is being used as a detour route while the Carlisle pole is repaired.

Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Heiner, R. 2, who recently returned for the summer from the Penn School for the Deaf, Philadelphia, was tendered a party by her classmates and teachers on the last day of the term, the day also marking her tenth birthday.

Mrs. Herbert L. Heberlein has received word that her brother, Robert Meyer, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer, Erie, has been seriously ill in a hospital near his home. The Meyer family have been visitors during the two years they have lived here. Mrs. Heberlein's sister, Miss Christine Meyer, has returned to Erie after a recent stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Oberlander and children, Penny, Michael and Peggy, have moved from a part of the George W. Moul farmhouse south of town to a country place in Washington township, owned by Clair Rife. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Aumen have moved to the Moul place from New Oxford. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Aumen, New Oxford R. 1, formerly of near Paradise Rectory.

Merle E. Stitt, New Chester, a former student at the East Berlin high school, was among recent graduates from the University of Michigan, with the degree of bachelor of science in forestry.

Lester C. Hurley, who has been employed in Harrisburg and later in the Hanover area, has been spending some time with his family here. Herbert L. Heberlein, instructor of vocational agriculture at the local high school, with a group of students, has returned from a several days' stay at Eagles Mere for educational purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Riggs observed their 10th wedding anniversary during the week. Mr. Riggs, formerly of Montgomery county, Md., is the operator of the East Be-Sin Flour and Feed Mills, Inc. His wife is the former Miss Betty J. Shetter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter. The couple have a six-year-old son, Richard, Jr.

STRIKERS VOTE THIS EVENING ON MILK ISSUE

Pittsburgh, June 29 (AP) — More than 3,000 dairy strikers will vote tonight (6 p.m. EST) on a new offer to end the 21-day-old milk strike in Pittsburgh and seven surrounding counties.

Details of the offer are still a secret.

Harry A. Tevis, president of AFL Local 205, Milk and Ice Cream Salesmen and Dairy Employees, declined to say whether union officers will recommend acceptance.

Jack E. Davis, spokesman for the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers Association, refused to discuss the new offer of dealers to end the strike which has cut off normal milk deliveries to most of the 2,300,000 residents of the area.

Some observers feel the new offer may provide retroactivity to last May 1, the contract expiration date. The offer voted down last week provided retroactivity to June 1. Since the strike began on June 9 this would mean only eight days of retroactive pay.

Other details of the first offer provided a 44-hour week for inside workers, on an alternating five and six-day work week schedule, until

Wimbledon Matches Enter Third Round

Wimbledon, England, June 29 (AP) — The public introductions being over, the All-England lawn tennis championships enter the third round today with the third round matches of the men's singles play.

With seven American seeded players all are due for action along with top-seeded Frank Sedgman, the Australian pre-tournament favorite.

Billy Talbot, the New Yorker who is rapidly making friends and influencing wagers on his chances of cupping the cup, tangles with Sweden's vastly improved Torsten Johansson in one of the top matches of the day.

Another hot-dogging is the meeting between Ivor Dorfman of New York and Australia's Adrian Panik.

Budge Patty, the expatriate from Los Angeles now living in Paris; Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., and Art Larson of San Francisco, Calif., all should have little difficulty in getting past their third-round tests.

January 1, 1951, when a 40-hour schedule would be put into effect without a pay loss. The union's original demands were for a reduction in the 48-hour week to 40 hours immediately with no pay cut.

The union also asked that driver-salesmen be guaranteed $13.50 a day, instead of $10 as under the old contract. The industry offered $11.50.

PHILADELPHIA TRANSIT STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Philadelphia, June 29 (AP) — The Philadelphia Transportation company and Local 234 of the Transport Workers Union (CIO) have reached an agreement averting a strike scheduled for tomorrow.

The walkout, fourth scheduled in six years, would have tied up P.T.C. trolley and bus equipment which carries an estimated 3,000,000 persons daily.

It began over the company's announcement that it would institute one-man trolley operation on 14 of its routes for 11 summer Saturdays as an economy measure. The union protested and at a meeting of approximately 2,000 members voted to strike. The union claims a membership of 11,000.

As a result two injunction suits were filed and city officials and Pennsylvania Governor James H. Duff pleaded there was no strike.

Delay Two Suits

The agreement was announced yesterday under express orders from Judges Raymond McNeille and Joseph Slane who had held up the two pending suits.

Normally the agreement would require ratification by union members because those attending the strike call session voted for it. However approval of the executive board and section leaders is expected to suffice because of the shortness of time.

The company will be free to institute one-man trolley operation on the routes it planned on 14 Saturdays starting tomorrow.

P.T.C. agreed to give motormen and conductors a new chance to select runs in accordance with individual seniority and to arbitrate any hardship cases not able to be settled through normal channels.

Collegiate Golf Marked By Upsets

Albuquerque, N. M., June 29 (AP) — Galleries looked for more upsets and minor reverses like those which speeded first rounds yesterday in the 53rd annual National Collegiate Athletic association golf classic.

A trimmed-down field of 32 heads into second rounds today. The championship will be decided Saturday.

Dave Dennis, 23-year-old Kansas university sharpshooter, fired a blistering five-under-par 67 after after beating Oklahoma's Jim Vickers 5 and 4 in one of the upsets.

Advancing in the tourney yesterday were Harvie Ward, Jr., of North Carolina, shooting for his second NCAA title; Wake Forest's Arnold Palmer, the tourney medalist, and North Texas' Billy Maxwell.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service says there is some evidence rosefish migrate considerable distances.
